

Department of ANTHROPOLOGY

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH | GRADUATION 2019

AWARDS AND HONORS

Once again, the students of the Anthropology Department came out in force to demonstrate the high quality and overall participation in student research. Anthropology presented 24 of the 71 total posters, winning the Research Day Cup in a landslide victory. Kasey Cole, a PhD student working under Dr. Jack Broughton, took first place in the graduate student division. Third place was a tie between Peter Yaworsky, a PhD student working under Dr. Brian Coddling, and Jaydee Dolinar, a Master's student working under Dr. Lisbeth Louderback.

Graduate student winners of the CSBS Research Day poster competition.

Elizabeth Cashdan,
CSBS Superior Research Award

Dr. Cashdan was nominated for her work on how evolution has shaped our thinking and preferences to solve adaptive problems along with understanding variation in human behavior, and the ecological factors that shape it.

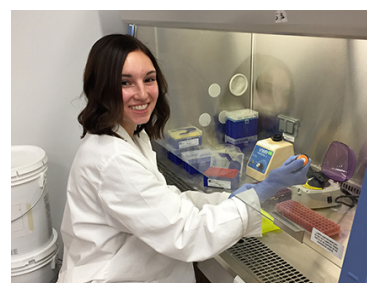

Shane Macfarlan,
CSBS Superior Teaching Award

Dr. Macfarlan was nominated for his excellence as an educator. His courses are thoroughly enjoyed by students and often recruit new majors.

Tyler Faith,
Top Researcher & Grant Recipient

Dr. Faith was recognized as a Top Researcher at the CSBS Celebrate U Event. Dr. Faith was also recognized as the recipient of the NSF CNH Grant, which is the largest grant in the College for the current year.

Journey Bly,
Outstanding Researcher
Journey was nominated as the College of Social and Behavioral Science's Outstanding Undergraduate Researcher for 2019. Journey has been working in the Meldrum Molecular Genetics Lab with Dr. Leslie Knapp
